STARVING CIVILIANS IN POLAND, PALESTINE AND CARPATHIANS FIGHT WITH WOLVES FOR MERE EXISTENCE

Russians Near German Frontier and Still Forcing Enemy to Fall Back—French Repulsed Near St. Mihiel --- Hand-to-Hand Struggle on in Alsace.

By Associated Press.
London, Jan. 22.—The Germans have halted the French advance designed to cut communications with the important fortresses of Metz in Lorraine and isolate the German forces in the St. Mihiel region.
The official statement from Berlin today says that the French lost heavily in an attack near Pont A Mousson and were repulsed.
The French statement acknowledges that the Germans have retaken part of their lost trenches.
Another violent battle is in progress in Alsace, in which troops are engaged in hand-to-hand struggles. The Berlin War Office asserts that the French were driven from the heights near Sunnheim.
A conference was held in Paris between representatives of England, France and Russia, who are reported to have under consideration a joint loan of $3,000,000,000.

British observers, dangerously near German territory.
The western allies are watching this region just now with great interest and dispatches from Petrograd say that the Russians are pinning high hopes on this offensive thrust near the German line.

London, Jan. 22.—The suffering in Belgium is, for the moment, in the background, when compared to the destitution of non-combatants in Palestine, Poland and the Carpathians.
From Palestine Jewish colonists continue to flee to Egypt, being conveyed as rapidly as possible by the American cruiser Tennessee.
The destitution of Poland is said to be terrible and new appeals for aid have been issued.
It is said that the situation in Poland is far worse than it is in Belgium. The fleeing people of Bukovina are living like animals in caves and fighting with wolves for such sustenance as the snow covered country affords.

London, Jan. 22.—The British steamer Durward, says a Rotterdam dispatch to Reuters Telegraph Company, has been torpedoed by a German submarine. The crew were saved.

RAIDERS LATEST AIR MONSTERS

By Associated Press.
Copenhagen, Jan. 22.—Messages received here from Berlin declare that the airships which raided England the night of January 19, were Zeppelins of the latest type.
They went forth from a secret base on the German frontier, carrying a full complement of men, heavy guns and ammunition.

STEAMER BURNS NO LIVES LOST

By Associated Press.
Baltimore, Md., Jan. 22.—The Chesapeake bay steamer, Maryland, bound to Baltimore, from Pocomoke river points, caught fire off the Magothy river early today and burned to the water's edge, after having been beached.

So far as known no lives were lost and no one severely injured, although some of the passengers had narrow escapes, many of them losing all their personal effects.

SEN. CUMMINS WIELDS HAMMER

By Associated Press.
Washington, Jan. 22.—The feature of the Republican fight on the administration ship bill in the Senate today was a long and vigorous attack by Senator Cummins upon President Wilson's influence upon legislation and upon the President's Indianapolis speech.
"One of the most reactionary and dangerous proposals ever made public," was his characterization of the bill. The President's speech he attacked at length.

LODGE SEES WAR AHEAD

By Associated Press.
Washington, Jan. 22.—Attributing to the administration an intention to buy German ships interned in American ports if the Ship Purchase bill is passed, Senator Lodge today declared in the Senate that the measure would "bring us within measurable distance of war, not with England alone, but with France, Russia and Japan."
He quoted from the House Committee hearing to show that Secretary McAdoo had "practically admitted that the purpose of the bill was to buy the German ships, "laid up in Boston and New York."

WILSON CONDUCTS HEARING

Washington, Jan. 22.—Five hundred men—social workers, labor leaders and publicists—crowded the historic East Room of the White House today at a public hearing before President Wilson on the Immigration Bill.

Seated at a long table and flanked by his military aid, in full uniform, and some stenographers, President Wilson took his place promptly at 10 a. m. to listen to the arguments for and against the literacy test, around which the fight on the bill is waged.
Speakers in favor of the measure contended the literacy test would improve the quality of immigration; F. Elliott, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Clifford those opposed to it declared it was no test of quality whatever and that many aliens who would become desirable citizens would be kept out simply by an inability to write.

WARNING ISSUED BY BRITISH PRESS

Grave Results Forecasted Unless Change of Attitude Between United States and Great Britain Occurs at Once—Accuses America of "Playing German Game."

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 22.—The Spectator, in a leading editorial article entitled "A Great Danger," expressed anxiety and alarm at the "way in which we are drifting toward the danger of a collision with the United States."

This article speaks in praise of the good feeling toward Great Britain of many prominent Americans, but it resents deeply the "indifference, indeed callousness toward Great Britain and her cause shown by the government of the United States."

Comparing the present situation with that which existed at the time of the Slidell and Mason arrest, 1861, the Spectator says that "the British statesmen were as much at fault then as American statesmen are now, but happily the Queen and Lincoln prevented war."

Believing that the American government would certainly be on the side of those who are fighting to restore Belgium the British people "suddenly find America officially playing the German game and, in effect, trying to prevent our bringing Germany to her knees and driving her out of Belgium."

RELIEF SHIP SAILS CARRYING BIG CARGO

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 22.—Carrying a cargo of food supplies shipped by an American firm and consigned to an American citizen in Germany, the American-owned steamer, Wilhelmina was given clearance today from this port for Hamburg, and is expected to sail this afternoon. The shippers assert that the food is meant only for consumption by civilians.

This is the first food-carrying American vessel to leave an American port for Germany since war began in Europe. If she is seized by warships of the allies her consignors, the W. L. Green Commission Co., of St. Louis, will file a protest with the American State Department, according to local attorneys of the company.

The Wilhelmina's cargo consists of 900,000 pounds of wheat, 840,000 of corn, and bran, lard, beef, pork, hams, pickled tongue, dried fruits, peas, beans and oats.

Before deciding to risk this cargo on the high seas its owners, according to the attorney, consulted the State Department. He said that Secretary Bryan had asserted that he could not outline what course the State Department would pursue in the event of seizure of such a cargo shipped under the conditions described in the company's letter to him.

Their limit shall be $150 for a horse and buggy and thief, and $25 for the thief and recovery of other property, as stock and grain.

Rule 2. The President or in his absence, the Vice-President, shall administer the oath of office to newly-elected officers.

Rule 4. The Chairman shall appoint all committees, the first named of which to be chairman of said committee.

Rule 5. The President shall fill any vacancies by appointment, such incumbent serving until the next annual election.

Rule 6. Any business arising not covered by the bounds of the Constitution and By-Laws shall be acted upon and provided for by the Trustees.

Rule 7. The Secretary shall be recommended according to the judgment of Trustees.

REMARKS.

When a member misses property, he should make an effort to get some clue to the thief and report it at once to the President and Secretary. Each member should study his animals and be able to give an accurate description of them at any time.

As this is a mutual organization your help is needed and if any property is stolen from a member you are expected to help hunt it.

If an assessment is made on the members please settle it at once as your membership only continues for 30 days with an unpaid assessment against you.

INSTITUTE AND CORN SHOW ESTABLISH NEW PRECEDENT

Large Crowd Attend Annual Event at Good Hope and All Take Deep Interest in Each Session, the Corn Exhibits and Domestic Science Department—Premiums Awarded, New Officers Elected.

The Seventh Annual Farmers' Institute, with its accompanying corn show, held in Wayne Hall, Good Hope, Wednesday and Thursday, passes into the annals of the live wire farmers of that locality as one of the most successful undertakings of the kind ever in the county.

For these two days, Good Hope was the "hub" of Old Fayette and Wayne hall couldn't hold the people who drove from all over the county, and from other counties, to enjoy the fine programs of the Institute and to take in a corn show that was worth going miles to see.

In both the Institute and the Corn show, Wayne township's ambitious farmers certainly outdid themselves and former efforts.

The Institute opened Wednesday morning, with Rev. Pfaltzgraf giving the invocation.

Mr. Frank E. Haines, president of the Institute, delivered a cordial address of welcome, expressing his pleasure in greeting the large audience as representative of the farmers of that section. Mr. Haines emphasized the responsibility of the farmer and the imperative need that he rise to the great demands upon him—demands pressing today as never before. He also discussed the great changes in present day farming and in farming districts.

Throughout the various sessions of the Institute, Mr. Haines made a fine presiding officer.

Mr. Gearhart, state speaker, was listened to with absorbed interest in his address on "Crop Rotation".

As the speaker said, "crop rotation has been the plan of farming in this community, and is practiced to get the best results, and leave the land in the best shape. In putting out all crops there is never an entire failure—the practice of putting out but one crop has been proven a failure as is shown by looking at the South and the tie-up of her cotton crop.

"Rotation has proven to yield 15 bushels more to the acre than a continuous corn crop; also, wheat and oats have proved best in rotation."

Mr. Gearhart considered it is a financial failure not to rotate crops. A number of farmers took part in the discussion, led by Mr. W. Duncan, which followed.

The farmers of Fayette generally use a three-year rotation.

The subject of wheat production was taken up by Mr. John Begg, one of the Institute speakers.

Mr. Begg pronounced the one crop as the "curse of the nation" and said that farmers must realize they had to have wheat. He advocated the time of sowing from September 20th to October 8th, said that absolutely clean seed wheat should be used, and advocated 200 pounds of fertilizer to the acre. One reason prices have been so low in wheat is because the grain is not graded.

Mr. Orris Hagler opened an interesting discussion. The general opinion of farmers seemed to be that the more wheat sown and the more fertilizer used the better the crop.

Jones Concert Co., which added entertaining musical novelties to the different sessions, were introduced Wednesday morning, and Misses Jeanette Walker and Bernice Boggs added to the pleasure of the afternoon session.

The hall was crowded for the afternoon program.

Mrs. Luella Barr McKee delivered an address on "The Day's Work; Home Economics", that was one feature of the Institute, and pronounced far too short.

Mrs. McKee sounded the warning that improper diet is the cause of nearly all our sickness. Housekeepers should read the labels on cans, for under the new law the exact contents are on the label. Sweets should be used at the beginning of the meal, and the speaker supported this statement by claiming that Italians are the best fed people; Americans, the poorest. She closed with the statement that housekeeping is a bigger business than cooking three meals a day; it means right rearing of children and making home happy.

Dr. D. W. Maddux delivered one of the best addresses of the Institute, of immense practical benefit on "Health in Hogs".

The veterinary insisted that sanitation must be strictly observed; housing and ventilation good; feed what experience has shown to be best. The difficulty in Fayette county is that too much corn is fed. Hogs must have some of the chemicals that they get from the earth. Hog tonic is all right if it supplies some of these chemicals. Any hog will take cholera, but lots of conditions can be overcome. The time to try prevention is before the hogs have the cholera.

Dr. Maddux claimed it would take $60,000 to immune or eradicate hog cholera from Fayette county.

Farmers felt Dr. Maddux knew what he was talking about and he was called upon to answer a great many questions.

Mr. Beggs took the platform for the second time to treat of the "Cattle Business", giving valuable suggestions to stock raisers, and the subject was further taken up in a discussion led by Oscar Beatty and Horace Wilson.

Of great interest in the Wednesday evening session was Mr. Gearhart's history of the experiment station, the work it has accomplished, and its value to farmers.

At the Wooster Station there are 100 acres under control, and upon which different tests are made for the benefit of farmers.

A hearty invitation was extended to all farmers to visit the station.

Prefacing it with a humorous introduction, Mr. Beggs took up the subject of "Civic Improvement". Embodied under the general head came the subheads of good roads, good schools and high standards for school systems, rural churches and country home improvements.

Margaret Alice Porter delighted the evening's audience with a solo and the Jones Concert Company entertained with orchestra, vocal numbers and readings. They received frequent encores.

Thursday morning Mr. Gearhart took up the subject of "Soy Bean Culture", and their benefit to the soil.

Mr. A. S. Booco, of Jeffersonville, led in a discussion relative to the cultivation and use of the soy bean.

Following Mr. Beggs' address on "Silos", Mr. J. K. White and Mr. John King conducted a discussion. Mr. King gave a record on feeding 20 cattle, proving the value of ensilage to the farmer.

Mr. McCune, of the Humphrey Jones' farm, claimed he had the first silo on the county and about the first in the state, a 2500 ton silo that cost $800.

Ladies' Session.

Thursday afternoon was made very interesting as the Ladies' session, Mrs. John Weade a very easy presiding chairman.

The crowd was entirely too large for the hall.

Mrs. Clark Post contributed a splendid paper on a timely subject, "Qualifications for a Successful Farmer's Wife." Mrs. Post said there was no other occupation where a wife needed to be so completely a partner as that of the farmer, and impressed the responsibility which rested on the farmer's wife.

Mr. Beggs was called to the platform and handed the ladies a nice bunch of bouquets as well as congratulations to the managers of the splendid institute.

A very cunning song that brought forth a rousing encore, was sung by

A Factor Often Overlooked
The problem of the unemployed, which comes before the public each winter with the same regularity as Christmas and New Years, is now one of the most active interests of both civic and philanthropic effort.
While the army of the unemployed may, from time to time, find economic and industrial conditions responsible for their share in the dearth of employment, there is another factor of immense importance, that is too often overlooked—that is inefficiency.
There may be temporary business conditions which tend to augment the army of the unemployed and which throw even the skilled workmen into its ranks, but the yearly problem of finding work for the idle is due in large measure to inefficiency.
The man or the woman who is trained to his or her business or vocation or labor, and brings to it competent service, may, under unusual stress of circumstances, be temporarily out of employment, but it is only a question of a short time until some opportunity opens, because the ability to make good is there.
So many people are willing to go through life poorly equipped for the duties to which they aspire—bringing to their tasks such a poor grade of service that it is worth little or nothing.
Strange as it seems, often the most inefficient are the quickest to resent the aspersions, and attribute their lack of success to the personal dislike or non-appreciation of the employers.
There will never be any period of long duration when the skilled worker in any industrial line will not be able to command a job and a fairly paid job.
But more and more, the day of the poorly equipped, inefficient worker is passing.
With the present wonderful educational advantages, with the splendid systematic aid of the various charitable organizations, there are few, not debarred by serious ill health or incapacity, who do not have the opportunity to become efficient.
Laziness, unwillingness to bone down to hard work, is largely responsible for the fact that there are so many unemployed men and women, utterly incapable of performing duties with any degree of efficiency.
People of means and influence are seldom unwilling to aid the boy or girl making a genuine effort, but there must be shown the disposition to do their share in hard work which is the cornerstone for future efficiency.
Many a man looks back upon careless years of shiftlessness and of side-stepping every strenuous effort. Honesty forces him to admit that in those years he lost the opportunity to gain that efficiency which would have meant comfort in his later years rich in compensation for earlier effort.
Efficiency isn't merely getting through with a job; it's doing it well and as it ought to be done.

FRENCH ADVANCING IN ALSACE REGION
Paris, Jan. 22.—The French army of invasion in Alsace has penetrated to the town of Hartmannsweiler, 15 1/2 miles from the Rhine. The town, which commands two highroads, is northwest of Mulhausen. In spite of winter's severities the invasion is being pressed determinedly and the French are slowly but surely digging their way to Mulhausen and Altkirch.
FAVORABLE TO SULLIVAN
New York, Jan. 22.—Almost the first testimony in favor of James M. Sullivan, minister to Santo Domingo, came into the hearing before President Wilson's commissioner, Senator-elect James J. D. Phelan, who is delving into an alleged conspiracy to exploit the Dominican republic. John G. Gray of Wilmington, Del., a close friend of Secretary Bryan, J. Franklin Fort, former governor of New Jersey, and James K. McGuire, former mayor of Syracuse, were witnesses who favored Minister Sullivan. Mr. Gray admitted that he had worked hard to have Mr. Sullivan appointed. He had known Bryan since 1896, Mr. Gray said, and Bryan had been many times a guest at his home in Wilmington. Mr. Gray said that the linking of his name with the Banco Nacional interests in this investigation was an "attack by insinuation" upon him.

Poetry For Today
VENICE.
There is a glorious city in the sea;
The sea is in the broad, the narrow streets,
Ebbing and flowing, and the salt seaweed
Clings to the marble of her palaces.
No track of man, no footsteps to and fro,
Lead to her gates. The path lies o'er the sea,
Invisible; and from the land we went,
As to a floating city—steering in.
And gliding up her streets as in a dream,
So smoothly, silently—by many a dome,
Mosque-like, and many a stately portico,
The statues ranged along an azure sky;
By many a pile in more than eastern splendor,
Of old the residence of merchant-kings;
The fronts of some—though time had shattered them—
Still glowing with the richest hues of art,
As though the wealth within them had run o'er.
—Samuel Rogers.

MINORITY SENATORS COMMUNE
Will Continue Opposition to the Ship Purchase Bill.
Washington, Jan. 22.—Republicans of the senate at a formal conference determined to fight the government ship purchase bill with all the resources they could command and to continue the opposition indefinitely until March 4, or in an extra session should one be called.
Immediately following the conference, called by Minority Leader Gallinger, the Republicans began concerted action in the senate. Senator Smoot moved that the senate adjourn. This was defeated, Democratic members, most of whom had been absent while Senator Weeks concluded a speech against the ship bill, having rushed in on a quorum call. Then Senators Lodge and Root served notice that they would speak on the bill.
"It was the consensus of opinion among the Republican senators," said Senator Gallinger, "that we should keep up the fight against this ship purchase bill. We have thoroughly canvassed the situation and find we have a vast amount of material and plenty of talent for continuing debate indefinitely. How long it will require to get our arguments against the measure before the nation it is impossible to predict."
Senator Kern, the majority leader; Senator Fletcher, in charge of the bill, and other administration leaders were aroused by the action of the Republican conference. They insisted that the ship bill would be kept before the senate regardless of consequences.
Democratic members of the senate in caucus began the process of amending President Wilson's ship purchase bill. The caucus adopted an amendment providing that the shipping board should consist of the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of commerce, together with three civilians who have had experience in over-seas trade.

DRIVE OUT THAT PAINFUL RHEUMATISM
If you are bothered with Rheumatism and "every muscle in your body aches," rub the aching joints with Hoff's German Liniment, the famous stainless, greaseless, refreshing-odor pain chaser. It is pure and white as snow and it won't soil the finest clothes.
Hoff's German Liniment is made from the same formula that doctors use with such success in Germany. Emulsion of camphor and other effective, harmless ingredients are used. Everyone knows the value of camphorated oil, but it leaves the pores open—making one susceptible to further cold. Hoff's German Liniment keeps the pores closed—keeps colds out.
Hoff's German Liniment is an unequalled remedy for Rheumatism, Lame Back, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, Cold on the Lungs, Cold in the Head, Aching Joints, Bruises, Burns, Sprains, Sore Feet, Corns, Bunions, etc. Used as directed, it quickly cures colds, coughs, croup, etc. Fine for children—fine for grown-ups. One of the most important meetings in years of Maynard Co. No. 142, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, was held Thursday night, when the annual inspection and election took place.

GREAT AUDIENCE HEARS BERT GILL TELL LIFE STORY

An audience which packed the auditorium of Grace church, assembled Thursday evening to hear the life story of Bert Gill, ex-saloonist.

The preliminary services of the evening were in charge of J. E. McLean, chairman of Group H.

Following a short talk by Rev. Ross, Mr. Gill related in his own plain way, the story of his life and how every part of his life was completely changed when he "hit the trail" at the Billy Sunday meetings in Columbus.

He told how he had lived prior to his wonderful change, and how he had despised all that he now loves, and now loves all that he then hated most. His struggle against his better self was told; how he fought against hitting the trail, but at last went to the tabernacle and literally forced his way into the place and joined the others in their stampede on the saw-dust trail.

He then told of how he disposed of his saloon without selling another drop of whiskey; how he quit the drink habit, and his struggle to begin from the bottom and work upward. He was penniless, but his great faith kept him hopeful and each time as he was in sorest need of money, it came to him honestly, and how he started in business, assisted by his friends.

He warned his auditors against the curse of the drink habit, and what it leads to. His message was a strong one, and made a deep impression upon the hundreds who heard him.

Rev. Ross followed Mr. Gill, making a short appeal to the unsaved, and after a short prayer and song service, the meeting came to an end, after a session of nearly 2½ hours.

Tonight the preliminary services will be in charge of Mr. T. N. Craig. Another large audience is expected tonight. Mr. Ross preaching on the subject, "The Touch That Saves."

A LADY AND A BABY

And Uncle Sam's Polite Consul in a City in France.

HOW THEY MET AND PARTED.

And How Light Was Thrown on the Problem That the Woman, Who Was French and Voluble, and the Infant, Who Was American, Presented.

Not very long after having taken charge of one of the consulates in France I was one morning seated at my desk busily engaged in figuring over my quarterly accounts, when suddenly a woman carrying a bundle in her arms appeared before me. I had not resided in France sufficiently long to imbibe the unadulterated French politeness, but I had progressed sufficiently to ask:

"Madame, what can I have the pleasure of doing for you this morning?"

"Monsieur," she exclaimed, walking toward me, holding out the bundle as if to deposit it on my desk, "this is an American baby. What shall I do with it?"

Abashed at the prospect of so suddenly becoming a father with the orange blossoms and rice omitted and knowing that the American government had established no precedent of maintaining orphan asylums either at home or abroad, I hesitated a moment and replied:

"Will the madame please be seated over there by the door and tell me why, being a Frenchwoman she has become possessed of an American baby?"

It never occurred to me to examine the little bundle of humanity. I had in previous times rather prided myself on my ability to distinguish the nationality of people, had even boasted I could tell them by their shoes, but I had never tried my perceptive powers on infant physiognomies.

"Voilà!" she said, seating herself. I shall never forget that word voilà.

It was one of the first French words I ever learned. You know it means—oh, so many things when used exclamationally, as it generally is. Usually, however, to the beginner in the French language it conveys the meaning of "Here it is." That was about as far as I had progressed in my French education at that time in regard to the many varied meanings of voilà, and I determined that if it meant the baby then it would retain its geographical location indefinitely—that is, in the woman's lap over by the door, or preferably outside. But her voilà referred not so much to the infant as to the story of how it came to be in her possession.

She talked volubly while I tried to assume the defensive power of silence. But to a Frenchwoman—well, silence simply means what the jockey gives the horse in the last heat—encouragement.

From the verbal French cyclone she hurled at me I gathered a few fragments that enabled me to understand.

For three months she had been employed as nurse by an American woman who had paid her good wages. Four weeks previously, however, the mother had returned to New York, saying she was going over for only two or three days on an urgent business matter and would return at once. She had not seen or heard of her since. Being a woman who had to work for her own living, the baby was a burden on her hands. She could hardly support herself, much less provide for the infant, and as the child was of American parentage she thought the representative of the American government ought to take care of it.

I suggested that I would write to the city authorities in New York asking as to the genuineness of the address that the woman said the mother had left with her.

"And what shall I do during all the time you are waiting for an answer—starve?"

My answer finally was a twenty franc gold piece, with which she departed, saying she would try to take care of the baby until I could hear from the New York authorities.

Now, the reasonable and the unreasonable part of the story is that since her departure, though the sun has risen hundreds of times, she has never returned. It had not risen more than seven times, however, before I learned the reason.

It was just one week later at an informal dinner of the sixteen consuls who resided in the city that in the course of a conversation with my Italian colleague I told him the story of the woman and the baby. What do you suppose he answered?

"Well, well," he laughed, "why, that same woman came to my office, only she had an Italian baby. And I thought I was fortunate to get rid of her for 50 francs."

In the general conversation that followed I discovered that the woman had visited every one of the sixteen consulates in the city, and by her ability to change the baby's nationality from English to German and from Haitian to Japanese and all the other colors of the rainbow she had extracted from the consular corps of that particular French city the sum of 775 francs.

This incident is just one of a series of similar experiences with frauds and fakers a consul has to face in the performance of his duties.—Thornwell Haynes in New York Tribune.

JAPANESE COURT TRIALS.

The Judges, Not the Lawyers, Question the Witnesses.

The defendant in a Japanese court was testifying in his own behalf. He stood directly in front of the presiding judge, not ten feet distant from him, and answered his questions in a clear voice, without any apparent hesitation. The judge seemed conversant with the case, for he put questions rapidly, giving a funny little grunt of acquiescence after every answer. Occasionally one of the associates wrote a suggestion and handed it to the president, and once or twice the defendant's counsel asked the court to put a certain inquiry. The whole proceeding—and the same may be said of those in several other courts I visited—was conducted in a quiet, colloquial way. In every instance I was impressed with the simple, businesslike atmosphere.

Some of the Japanese lawyers with whom I have talked say that they feel that very often the court does not elicit all the facts and that our system of having witnesses questioned by counsel would be better, but, on the other hand, some lawyers maintain that better results are realized by the system, which puts upon the court the duty of getting at the truth, maintaining that the witnesses are more apt to talk frankly to the court than to the lawyer for the opposite side who is engaged, as they think, in trying to make them out liars.

I came away quite favorably impressed with what I saw and wondering whether on the whole in 95 per cent of the cases a decision by three judges trained in the investigation of facts would not be as nearly right as the verdict of twelve citizens casually gathered in from the general community.—George W. Wickersham in Case and Comment.

COAXING THE FURNACE.

Try Gentleness and the Uplift and Kindly, Soothing Words.

Treat your furnace kindly. Let your watchwords as a furnace tender be gentleness and uplift. Be firm with your furnace, but always gentle. Some persons imagine that the way to make a furnace behave properly is to first shake it violently and then maul the life out of the remaining coals with the poker. They try chastisement when they should try gentleness and uplift and only succeed in packing the coal harder and destroying ventilation, the secret of successful furnace tending.

Nothing responds more readily to uplift than does a furnace fire. When in the early morning you wish to arouse the furnace fire from its slumbers, you should first shake it gently, then gently tickle the ribs of the grate with the poker to make ventilation more perfect and then crack the top crust with a lever-like uplifting use of the poker. In a minute the fire will be wide awake and in good humor, laughing and sticking out its tongues of flame at you in merriment.

Never swear at your furnace, no matter how it annoys you. That will make it sulky and obstinate. You never saw a furnace which was sworn at often which was not frequently sulky and obstinate. Now, did you? It is advisable to take the directly opposite tack. I know a man who always addresses his furnace as "sweetheart" or "darling," and he assures me the plan works to perfection. "Maybe it doesn't really make the furnace warm up the way I want it," he frankly admits. "Maybe the mere suggestion just keeps me from losing my temper and hammering my fire to pieces. But, anyway, the results are excellent. Savvy?"—Lee Shippey in Judge.

Aisle on the Car in a Wreck.

A veteran railroad man gave a piece of valuable advice not long ago. "If you ever get into a wreck," he said, "and have time to follow out this suggestion, remember this: Always stand in the aisle. Most of the injuries that are suffered occur because the victim is crushed between the seats. If you are in the aisle you may be thrown forward and bruised a little, but there is much less chance of receiving serious hurts. It isn't always possible to get out of your seat before the crash comes, but if it is follow that advice."—Pittsburgh Press.

Dome of the Rock.

The name "Dome of the Rock" is one that has been conferred on the celebrated mosque of Omar, at Jerusalem. It stands on Mount Moriah, on the site once occupied by the temple of Solomon. Immediately under its dome an irregular shaped rock projects above the pavement. This rock was the scene of many Scriptural events and has been greatly revered for ages by Jews and Mohammedans.

A young clergyman, small of stature, preaching as a candidate in a certain place one Sabbath, peering over the pulpit Bible, announced as his text: "It is I. Be not afraid."

In Social Circles

A thoroughly charming affair of Thursday afternoon was the "Silver Tea", given by the Ladies' Guild of St. Andrew's Episcopal Mission, at the residence of Mrs. J. Star Smith. Adding pleasure to the spontaneous sociability of the afternoon were choice musical numbers; Miss Jessie Leavell, of Bloomingburg, always a soprano soloist greatly enjoyed, and Mrs. H. T. Wilkin, a brilliant pianist, the contributors. Miss Elizabeth Ballard played the accompaniments.

The prettiest of tea tables, decked with pink carnations and garlands, was presided over by Mrs. H. E. Daugherty, Mrs. Frank Michaels, Misses Dorothy Smith, Marie Lanum and Marie Mobley.

One of the largest meetings in its history was enjoyed by the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace church, with 65 in attendance, Thursday afternoon.

A delightful program was presented. The women were indebted to Mrs. Daniel Shephardson, whose ability as a lecturer combined with rare opportunities of travel, make her an extremely interesting talker, for a spicy account of a trip to the Orient.

Mrs. Glenn Rodgers gave an entertaining reading, and a ladies' quartet, Mrs. Ed Pine, Mrs. Jesse Blackmer, Mrs. Will Reif and Mrs. Walter Girard, sang.

Mrs. B. E. Kelley, a talented pianist, played a composition of her own, "Heart Whispers", an exceedingly tender and caressing melody.

Mrs. J. H. Chapman contributed a beautiful piano solo, giving to it her always artistic interpretation.

Refreshments were served by the afternoon's hostesses, Mesdames Geo. Cox, John Durant, Wm. Bishop, Luella Chapman, Wert Briggs.

The Friday Auction Bridge club enjoyed this afternoon's meeting with Mrs. Roy Brown.

Mrs. F. O. Cline delightfully entertained the Friday Kensington club at her attractive new home this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lewis are entertaining the Friday evening euchre club.

Mrs. Fred Woollard pleasantly entertained her Kensington club Thursday afternoon.

BAD WRECK ON C. H. & D. TIES UP TRAFFIC

An early morning freight on the C. H. & D. railroad went through bridge No. 31 a short distance this side of Xenia, and some five cars were badly smashed according to reports reaching this city.

The bridge partly collapsed under the train, it is claimed, and it was necessary to rush the wreck train to the scene and take up the work of making repairs.

The east-bound morning train was annulled, and the west-bound train was compelled to meet the train at the wreck and transfer, coming back to this city about 1:30 p. m.

Early Friday afternoon it was announced that the wreck had been cleared up and that the evening passenger train would be able to pass over in safety.

It was the worst wreck on the road since the evening west-bound passenger train went through the bridge near Cisco last summer.

NOTED CRIMINAL TRACKER LEAVES

Mrs. M. E. Holland, of Chicago, the woman who has an international reputation as a criminologist, changed her plans about continuing on to New York from this city, and Thursday evening left on the 6:14 B. & O. train for Chicago.

It was Mrs. Holland's original intention to go to New York to close a contract with a big film company to appear in a series of detective plays, but after reaching this city and discussing the matter of appearing as the leading character in a new series of moving picture plays written by Hugh C. Weir—the series to be known as "The Mistress of Mysteries", she decided to return to Chicago with a view to signing a contract with Mr. Weir and Mr. G. E. Still, the latter representing the Syndicate Film Corporation of Chicago.

Mr. Weir also went to Chicago in order that the contract might be closed at once and within the next day or two it is expected that the necessary agreement will be made, after which Mrs. Holland will then go to New York on professional business.

VENDERS OF GOOD PRODUCE NOT LIABLE

The edict recently issued by the city Board of Health, against the sale of fruit and vegetables, by persons who haul the produce about the city, does not mean that persons who have a good grade of produce are forbidden to market it.

The edict protects the venders of good fruits and vegetables, and protects the consumer who has heretofore been victimized by persons who have disposed of an unwholesome class of fruit and vegetables.

The action of the Board of Health is explained, is merely to protect the health of the citizens of Washington.

UNIQUE PICTURES

An art exhibit of much interest to the fifty ladies present at the Mite Society meeting, Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Edge on S. North street, was two dozen imported pictures, displayed by Mrs. Sarah Pierce, assisted by Mrs. Jos. Gillespie, one of the hostesses. These pictures were hand-painted by the Japanese on bark and sent to this country by missionaries to be sold, the proceeds going toward Japan's temperance cause.

These pictures are rarely artistic, differing from any seen in shops and several were sold during the afternoon.

CLINTON TO VOTE ON NEW COURTHOUSE

February 16th, a special election is to be held in Clinton county for the purpose of issuing $300,000 in bonds to erect a new court house and jail.

The proposal is creating a great deal of interest, and while there is great need of the building, it is argued by some that the amount asked is entirely too large.

COME AND SEE US FRANK L. STUTSON

AN ECCENTRIC RUSSIAN.

Zaharin Was a Clever Doctor, but He Had Funny Ways.

Dr. Zaharin was one of the most famous as he was also the most eccentric of physicians in Russia.

Even when he was summoned to attend Czar Alexander III. in his last illness Dr. Zaharin required the same preparation for his visit to the imperial palace as to any of his less exalted patients' homes—that is to say, all dogs had to be kept out of the way, all clocks stopped and every door thrown wide open.

Following a process of gradual undressing, he left his furs in the hall, his overcoat in the next room, his rubbers in the third and, continuing, arrived at the bedside in ordinary indoor costume. This was only one phase of Dr. Zaharin's golden theory that "you should take a rest before you are tired." Accordingly he sat down after walking every few yards and every eight steps in going upstairs.

From the patient's relatives and every one else in the house he required absolute silence until he spoke to them, when his questions had to be answered by "Yes" or "No" and nothing more. To the actual patient, however, he was courteous and consideration in the highest degree.

Scientific American, "Is to give less food to hens which stop laying." Mr. Brochemin, in an article in L'Acclimation, advises that starchy foods, such as corn, rice and barley, be limited, while an abundance of such green food as cabbage, boiled clover, sorrel, etc., be given. Also the hens must be made to take exercise by giving them a large run and by mixing their food with straw, etc., so that they will have to work for their food.

Lawyers on Strike.

In 1789 John Scott, earl of Clonmell, who was lord chief justice of Ireland, made some insulting remarks from the bench to Mr. Hackett, a member of the bar, who was conducting an argument before him. A general meeting of the bar was called, a severe condemnation of his lordship's conduct voted with only one dissentient and an unprecedented resolution passed that until his lordship publicly apologized no barrister would either take a brief, appear in the king's bench or sign any pleadings for the court. This strike experiment was actually made. The judges sat, but no counsel appeared, no cause was prepared, the attorneys all vanished, and their lordships had the court all to themselves. There was no alternative, and next day Lord Clonmell published a very ample apology by advertisement in the newspapers and made it appear as if written on the evening of the offense and therefore voluntary.—London Law Times.

HENS IN WINTER.

They Stop Laying Eggs Because They Acquire Too Much Fat.

That hens stop laying as winter progresses is a fact known to every farmer and chicken fancier; also, indirectly, to every housewife through the rise in the price of eggs. The reason is explained by the Revue Scientifique, which says that the egg producing organs degenerate through too much fat. This condition is the consequence of too great abundance of food during the winter, coupled with lack of exercise, due to the narrow limits of the ordinary chicken run.

The fat invades the liver and piles up in the heart; the blood becomes sluggish and the lungs do not take up enough oxygen to insure combustion of the fat.

How to Slice a Loaf of Bread

First, cut the loaf in two across through the center; then slice the other way (lengthwise) with the "grain," for a properly made and moulded loaf has a "grain," the same as wood has, and by slicing with the grain the slices won't crumble and will "butter better" these cold mornings.

WRANGLING PRECEDES BALLOTING

House Favors Investigation of State Banking Department.

REIGHARD PROPOSAL ADOPTED

Minority Leader Kramer Leads Successful Assault Against Certain of the Allegations in the Resolution Being Stated Therein as Facts—Opposition Develops to Quinlisk Bill Amending Conservancy Act.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—By unanimous vote the house adopted the Reighard resolution to probe the state banking department. An extended debate preceded the vote. The resolution now goes to the senate.

John F. Kramer led an assault of the Democratic minority of the house against certain of the allegations in the resolution being stated therein as facts. Frank E. Whittemore, the Republican floor leader, yielded the point and had the phrase, "it is charged" prefixed to five of the "whereas" which Kramer had moved to strike out of the resolution. Kramer took care to make it clear that he was not opposing an investigation, saying: "I don't care if they catch a Democrat or a Republican. No man has a right to conduct a department as it is alleged in the resolution this department was conducted."

Black of Wyandot defended the employment of numerous bank liquidators, saying it was caused by the failure of a considerable number of private banks about the same time.

Mr. Reighard said the purpose was "to get relief from arbitrary acts of the bank superintendent and bank examiners." In reply to Kramer, who insisted he had not drafted the resolution, he said: "It is absolutely my own. It is not an idle dream, but voices complaints of many people in my county and others of real abuses." The statement in the resolution of retention of men to pay political debts, he said, was made by State Bank Superintendent Walters, that the liquidation of the Columbus Savings and Trust company had shown that "a lot of lawyers were employed to pay political debts."

To Probe Officials' Trips.

Trips of state officials to Florida and Texas to investigate land companies which had applied under the blue sky law for leave to sell stock in Ohio will be delved into. It is alleged in one instance that the cost of the trip was defrayed by the promoters of the companies, and in another instance that the authorization under the blue sky law to sell stock was ordered by wire after the inspecting official had acquired ownership of a large slice of the land.

Opposition to the Quinlisk bill, which is aimed to make radical changes in the Vonderheide conservancy act, lost no time in getting into action. Columbus and Dayton have enlisted in the fight on the amendments.

KAHN BILL IN FAVOR

Washington, Jan. 22.—Officials of the administration who have to contend with the problems presented by conditions in Mexico regard the proposal of Representative Kahn of California, to prohibit importation into the United States of confiscated property from Mexico, as one of the most sensible suggestions yet made for dealing with the situation there in the interest of Americans and other foreigners.

Representative Kahn has introduced a bill on the subject. It provides that customs collectors shall not permit importations into the United States from Mexico unless satisfactory proof is furnished that the articles were actually sold by the original owner and not confiscated by one or another of the military chieftains in Mexico. The bill also provides that in cases where the collector has reason to believe that the proposed importations are confiscated property, he shall refuse admission to them even if papers are produced satisfying all conditions of the proposed law.

Mr. Kahn's bill was drafted as a result of the notorious practices of Mexican chieftains in taking property away from Americans and other foreigners in Mexico and converting it into cash by exportation to the United States.

COL. BENTON KELLEY DEAD

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 22.—Colonel T. Benton Kelly, seventy-six, who it is claimed fired the first shot at Gettysburg, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George A. Brigham. The diary of Colonel Kelley bears the record of service in eighty-two engagements and skirmishes. He had five horses shot under him and was struck four times by lead and three times by sabers. One of his exploits was the capture, single-handed, of five Confederate soldiers, and later two more. Because there was not a shot fired Colonel Kelley was denied a medal for bravery.

LARGE ARMY IDEA OPPOSED BY MR. HAY

Replies to Statements Made By Congressman Gardner.

NATIONAL DEFENSE FIGHT ON

American Plants Capable of Producing Daily a Million Rounds of Rifle Ammunition, According to Chairman of Military Committee. Gardner Again Dwells Upon Unpreparedness of Uncle Sam For War.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Chairman Hay of the house military committee said that there are plants in the United States capable of producing 1,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition a day, an amount adequate for a large army in time of war. This statement was made in reply to a charge by Representative Gardner that the United States does not keep sufficient reserve ammunition on hand. The discussion was on the military appropriation bill, carrying $101,144,588.

The debate marked the opening of the fight begun by Representative Gardner to induce congress to make larger appropriations for national defense.

Chairman Hay announced that he was opposed to the addition of a single man to the standing army, asserting that there was no common ground between military establishments such as maintained by the United States and the large land forces supported by the people of Europe. He scoffed at the suggestion of Mr. Gardner that at any time the United States might be called on to protect the integrity of the Monroe doctrine or to meet an attack by Japan.

Mr. Gardner said the people were aroused on the issue of national defense and would demand larger appropriations for the army and navy. Mr. Gardner said he had discovered the change of sentiment while making speeches during the last campaign.

Discussing the Monroe doctrine and Asiatic exclusion, Mr. Gardner said: "Is it to be supposed that impoverished nations of Europe, teeming with population, will respect that doctrine unless they have the power to defend it? Suppose that Japan wakes up some fine morning and finds that her people are murmuring louder and louder that America must treat them as equals or they will know the reason why. What are you going to do? Admit them to naturalization? Let them swarm hither as if they were Europeans? Never by my vote, I hope. I ask some of the Pacific coast members what they think about it."

STRIKERS IDENTIFY DEPUTY SHERIFFS

New York, Jan. 22.—County Detective Richard A. Peltier lined up all the deputy sheriffs on guard at the Williams and Clark works and led before them the witnesses of the shooting. The witnesses were able to identify some of the guards as men who had fired on the strikers. Carman Patti, one of the strikers shot, died in a hospital at Elizabeth. His is the second death from the shooting.

CARRANZA FORCES BESET AT PUEBLO

Fiercely Attacked By Army of 35,000 Zapatistas.

Mexico City, Jan. 22.—A terrific battle is in progress at Puebla, where the Carranzista forces are besieged. Generals Emiliano and Eufemio Zapata made an assault on the city with 15,000 and 20,000 men respectively. The result of this attack has not yet been reported here. It is probably on account of the situation at Puebla that the Carranzistas had not yet marched to the capital. It appears that they are undecided whether to undertake this operation or not. In the capital are 3,000 men of Villa's command and 10,000 Zapatistas. These forces are considered sufficient for the maintenance of order.

The Carranzistas have not yet reached Apam, and to arrive at Mexico City, they will have to repair four kilometers of the Mexican railroad between Apam and Ometusco. This task would take at least two days, even if the advancing force met no resistance.

The convention learned that General Gutierrez took away with him 10,000,000 pesos out of the treasury when he fled from the capital. It was decided that the return of this money should be demanded under pain of prosecution. Gutierrez has not made any warlike move yet.

AUSTRIAN

RESISTANCE

WEAKENING

Russians Pushing Advance Into Southeastern Hungary.

OPERATIONS HELD IMPORTANT

Hungarians, as the Result of the Invasion, Said to Be Clamoring For Peace, With Secession as the Alternative—Force of Germans Gets Behind the Russian Army in Poland. Operations Elsewhere.

London, Jan. 22.—Dispatches from Petrograd lay stress upon the Russian advance into Transylvania, where, it is stated, Austrian resistance is broken. The news has interesting political as well as military significance. With the operations on the Polish and Galician fronts so retarded by weather conditions that they have settled down to a series of siege conflicts, productive of slight gains by each side, the Russian offensive at the extreme eastern district of the war takes on increased importance.

Russia hold Bukowina as well as most of Galicia, in a firm grip, and is deploying troops through the Borgo pass and other eastern clefts in the Carpathians. The Russians have reached the mountain frontiers of Transylvania and are beginning to flow down the slopes on to the Transylvania plains, in southwestern Austria.

The Austrian troops that were sent into Bukowina to stem the Russian advance were driven back to Jakoboni. The fighting is severe in these highlands and the troops are suffering from bitter cold. Infantry and artillery operate in deep snows.

The report of the Russian general staff says that the czar's forces are advancing successfully.

Unquestionably Russia is making special efforts in this region on the supposition that a successful campaign in Transylvania will bring Rumania into the war. There is a rumor that Rumania will throw troops into Transylvania in order to protect her nationals. That the campaign is stirring Hungary deeply is indicated by the news from Berlin that Archduke Charles Francis Joseph and Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg have arrived there and will be joined soon by Baron Burrian, the new Austro-Hungarian minister for foreign affairs. If it has no other result, the Russian invasion will compel Germany and Austria to detach from Poland and Galicia troops sorely needed in those provinces. Politically the campaign is important because of Hungary's attitude, which is said to be an agitation for peace, with secession as the alternative.

As regards the situation in Poland, Petrograd was concerned with a report that a force of Germans had appeared northwest of Warsaw and behind the Russian army advancing on the line of Dobryzyn-Milawa, on the southern East Prussian frontier. It is stated that the Germans are in small force.

A new invasion of Serbia is being organized by the Germanic allies. It is reported that 80,000 German soldiers will assist the forces of Emperor Francis Joseph.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "floggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 12c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Coughs and colds usually grow worse at nightfall. Keep a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND at hand. Use it freely—there is nothing in it that can possibly harm you. But it clears the throat of phlegm and mucus, stops the coughing and tickling, and heals the raw inflamed surfaces.

GEO. D. COBBS, Many, La., says: "My wife was troubled with a terrible cough, and we could get nothing to relieve her until I asked Dr. Self of Hornbeck, who recommended FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR so strongly that I purchased a 50c bottle. Before the contents of this bottle were used, the cough had entirely disappeared and my appetite improved, and I slept soundly at night."

Good druggists are glad to sell FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND because it always satisfies the customer and contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes.

PEPPER DEFENDS ORGANIZED BALL

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Organized baseball began the presentation of its side in the injunction suit brought by the Federal league against the national commission before Judge Landis when Attorney George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia replied to the arguments of the Federal league lawyers. The Quaker City lawyer, in addition to raising the question of jurisdiction, declared the plaintiff had given no good reason for granting a preliminary injunction against the national commission. He compared the Federal league contracts with those of organized ball and asserted that in the Federal league a player was found hand and foot for ten years. Mr. Pepper concentrated his efforts on trying to show that organized baseball did not come under the anti-trust law.

FORD STILL ADVERTISING

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 22.—Henry Ford, of Detroit, millionaire manufacturer of automobiles, will guarantee to take every convict out of Sing Sing prison and make a man out of him.

He so stated today when he appeared to testify before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations, which is investigating the great philanthropic foundation of the country and the cause of industrial unrest.

"The philanthropic foundations may do some good," said Mr. Ford, "but they are not adequate. My idea is justice and not charity. I have little use for philanthropies. My idea is to aid men to help themselves. We have a great many who have been in prison and were outcasts from society. Every one of them is now making good. We will guarantee to take every convict out of Sing Sing and make a man out of him."

ZAPATA TROOPS ENTER PUEBLO

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Zapata forces were within four miles of Puebla when an official dispatch was filed from there to the State Department late last night, and the Carranza defenders were reported loading artillery and equipment, apparently for retreat.

The Carranza troops recently drove the Villa-Zapata army out of the city with heavy loss.

LAWYER BRANDED A WHITE SLAVER

New York, Jan. 22.—Lorisy Elton Rogers, dapper lawyer and former actor, who maintained his motherless wife in a luxurious apartment on Riverside drive and the unwedded mother of his two children in a modest flat in the Bronx, was indicted and arrested under the so-called white slave law. He is charged specifically in an indictment of three counts with having induced Mrs. Ida Walters Rogers, who poisoned her two babies, to live with him. Rogers, surprised by the indictment and for a time thrown off the remarkable poise which he has held since the tragedy, regained his composure when arraigned before Judge Gibbs in the Bronx county court, and held in $500 bail for trial.

MOISTURE AND DUST.

Why This Rain Combination in the Air Shows a Red Sun.

An old weather proverb runs, "A red sun has water in his eye," and the condition which gave rise to it is explained by Professor W. J. Humphreys of the United States weather bureau in a discussion of some useful weather proverbs.

The condition that most favors a red sun is a great quantity of dust—especially smoke particles—in a damp atmosphere. Smoke alone in sufficient quantity will produce this effect, but it is intensified by the presence of moisture.

The blue and other short wave length colors of sunlight are both scattered and absorbed to a greater extent by a given amount of dust or other substance, such as water vapor, than is the red, and this effect becomes more pronounced as the particles coalesce.

Hence when the atmosphere is heavily charged with dust particles that have become moisture laden we see the sun as a fiery ball.

It has been known that this dust has much to do with rainfall, since it was proved by the physicist Aitken years ago that cloud particles, and therefore rain, will not under ordinary conditions form in a perfectly dust free atmosphere, but will readily form about dust motes of any kind in an atmosphere that is sufficiently damp. A red sun, therefore, commonly indicates the presence of both of the essential rain elements—that is, dust and moisture.—Rocky Mountain News.

COURT TRIALS IN FRANCE.

Three Judges and Two Sets of Jurors in Each Criminal Case.

Most interesting indeed is it to watch the trial of a criminal in Paris, especially when defended by a woman. French procedure is quite different from ours.

There are two sets of jurors, who must sit throughout the trial, so that any mishap to any juror in the group selected to determine the facts is prevented from retarding the trial by the immediate substitution of one of the jurors from the second group. Three judges always sit in all the assizes at every trial.

The prosecuting attorney, beginning with the words "I accuse," reads the indictment to the prisoner and does not speak again. The presiding justice does all the questioning, and there seem to be no rules of evidence to restrict his questions. The defending attorney at the close of the trial addresses the jury. He has the last word before the judge's charge.

A word here about the criminals of France. I have never seen a worse looking lot than those "Apaches." I was told that they are the descendants of criminals, and they looked it. Comparing them with our criminals, I was led to state that the United States had no criminal class, and it will be our own fault if we permit a criminal class to exist.—Mary M. Lilly in Case and Comment.

The Blushing Tree.

The blushing tree gets its name from the change of hue it assumes when the rain falls on it. As the drops drench the leaves, gradually but unmistakably the green that gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half hidden spots beneath broad branches and on its trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. After an hour or more, when the shower is over, the tree assumes its familiar green once more.

Anti-suffragists.

Southerners are notoriously fond of hot rolls, but they have a confection called Sally Lunn which is even more highly prized among them. It is not the sort of thing one has every day. It is for special occasions.

"Uncle William," said the housewife to the much spoiled old family servant who presided over most of the domestic arrangements—"Unc' William, don't you think it is about time for us to have some Sally Lunn?"

"Naw'm, Miss Ma'y, naw'm. Don't let's have none er dat. I ain't never had no fancy for dat female bread."—New York Post.
